

Online Safety Advice from the CEOP Centre

The Child Exploitation and Online Protection (CEOP) Centre are running a campaign in the run up to Christmas, aimed particularly at parents and carers, given that many of you will be thinking about buying internet and digital technologies as gifts for your children.

As part of this campaign, a registration facility is provided on the ThinkUKnow website where you will be able to receive regular updates via email over the New Year. These updates will include information on new technologies, emerging risks and safety tips to help them keep your children safe online.

We encourage parents to visit the website, learn more about how to keep children safe online and register to receive free updates on a monthly basis.
